Painting a picture of happiness Thinking beyond our misery to provide others with joy

"I will rejoice and be glad in your steadfast love, because you have seen my affliction; you have known the distress of my soul," Psalm 31:7 (ESV)

The following story was sent to me some time ago by Candace Cramer. Its origin is unknown. Its wisdom and example are priceless.

Two men, both seriously ill, occupied the same hospital room. One man was allowed to sit up in his bed for an hour each afternoon to help drain the fluid from his lungs. His bed was next to the room's only window.

The other man had to spend all his time flat on his back. The men talked for hours on end. They spoke of their wives and families, their homes, their jobs, their involvement in the military service, where they had been on vacation.

Every afternoon, when the man in the bed by the window could sit up, he would pass the time by describing to his roommate all the things he could see outside the window.

The man in the other bed began to live for those one hour periods where his world would be broadened and enlivened by all the activity and color of the world outside.

The window overlooked a park with a lovely lake. Ducks and swans played on the water while children sailed their model boats. Young lovers walked arm in arm amidst flowers of every color and a fine view of the city skyline could be seen in the distance.

As the man by the window described all this in exquisite details, the man on the other side of the room would close his eyes and imagine this picturesque scene. One warm afternoon, the man by the window described a parade passing by.

Although the other man could not hear the band - he could see it in his mind's eye as the gentleman by the window portrayed it with descriptive words.

Days and weeks passed.

One morning, the day nurse arrived to bring water for their baths only to find the lifeless body of the man by the window, who had died peacefully in his sleep. She was saddened and called the hospital attendants to take the body away.

From the Pastor con't.

As soon as it seemed appropriate, the other man asked if he could be moved next to the window. The nurse was happy to make the switch, and after making sure he was comfortable, she left him alone.

Slowly, painfully, he propped himself up on one elbow to take his first look at the real world outside. He strained to slowly turn to look out the window besides the bed. It faced a blank wall.

The man asked the nurse what could have compelled his deceased roommate who had described such wonderful things outside this window. The nurse responded that the man was blind and could not even see the wall. She said, "Perhaps he just wanted to encourage you."

There is tremendous happiness in making others happy, despite our own situations. Shared grief is half the sorrow, but happiness, when shared, is doubled.

From the cross, Jesus took on all of our miseries and replaced it with the joy of forgiveness. His love paints a real picture of peace and contentment, some of which we experience today; the rest in the life to come.

But today we ask Jesus to help us think beyond our temporary miseries and provide us with a genuine happiness to share, relieving others of their misery in the temporary and for eternity.

"...do not be grieved, for the joy of the LORD is your strength." Nehemiah 8:10b (ESV)

Ready to fill you with Christ's true happiness in worship, fellowship, and service.

YOUTH QUAKE 2010

Deacon/Deaconesses

It is my experience, too often, that "Life happens."

And sometimes I get to thinking large pieces of it (my life) go missing when I am not paying attention. I missed the planning of a surprise birthday party, for example. That really is not possible considering the people involved!

So, here are my Resolutions to end that "Life Happens" feeling:

- LISTEN – to God's word; to my body and my thoughts and feelings; to others.
- LEARN – more about God's will for my life (daily study of His word); more about my relationship with Him and with others (attend group Bible Study regularly).
- LIVE – a life more pleasing to God that reflects my love for Jesus. A life that is healthy and wholesome (exercise, don't overeat, stop swearing, be nice!)

And I plan to notice daily that "Grace Happens." 'Hope you notice a change in me!

President's Corner

I woke up this morning after an evening of heavy rain and sustained wind to the first morning of 2010 that felt like spring (at least in Scituate) – the sun was up, the air was fresh, and there was a light breeze.

Before I jump into my article, I just want to take a moment to remind everyone of Herring Brook's Spring at Last Gala on Saturday, March 20th at 6:30. Laura and I attended the event last year and it was a great evening of fun. We will be attending again this year, and I urge everyone that is free that evening to attend – it is sure to be another fun time and is a great way to support our school.

So getting back to the spring-like conditions this morning, I noticed all of this on my way out the door to hop in the car and head off to our Friday morning Men's Bible study at 6:00 AM.

We are reading Quiet Strength, by Tony Dungy and you definitely do not need to be a football fan to enjoy the book and the Friday morning discussion. Like every Friday morning that our group gathers, we have a lively conversation and today we talked about disciple, discipleship, and those people and moments in our lives that were "game changing".

It was a great discussion and thought provoking for me – who and what have been the greatest influences in my life? What has made me the person that I am today?

This got me thinking as I drove to the office this morning, I was recalling coaches I had had, people I know, folks I have worked with, tough situations, triumphs, and everything in between. These people and events have all had a part in making me the person that I am today. There were a few that stood out in my mind, but as I thought more about the question, I came back to one influence above all else that has shaped my character as an adult - my faith. There are people who I have worked for that have shaped me professionally, coaches that I played for that pushed me to achieve, and people in my life that have influenced my character and outlook. But as an adult, knowing that the Lord has a reason for everything in my life has helped me to develop a perspective on the person I am and the life I lead. You might even call that perspective a discipline, in that I try to recognize the Lord's hand in shaping my life.

Trust me, I probably miss the mark most of the time, but continue to strive to recognize what it is that Christ is asking me to do in both big moments and in my day-to-day tasks.

Lent is an introspective time, and this morning's men's Bible Study was one of those moments that caused me to take some time to stop and reflect on my life and faith.

Gift Planner

Six ways you can save on taxes with a Gift Annuity

1. A portion of your payments is tax-free. A larger percentage will be tax-free if you transfer cash to your Gift Annuity; a lesser percentage if you transfer appreciated securities.
2. A portion of your Gift Annuity is a charitable contribution. You can claim this deduction during the year you establish your annuity.
3. Your estate will incur no additional estate taxes if you are the sole recipient of your Gift Annuity payments.
4. Assets in your Gift Annuity bypass probate court.
5. If you transfer appreciated securities to establish your Gift Annuity, you will pay less capital gains tax than if you sold your stock. The capital gains tax is deferred and paid over your life expectancy as you receive annuity payments.
6. You can choose either the highest tax deduction for the year you establish your gift annuity or the greatest amount of tax-free income as you receive your payments. You note your preference on your Gift Annuity application. If you prefer, the LCMS Foundation will provide information to help you make that decision.

More annuity agreements, more benefits

Once you establish your Gift Annuity, you may not add to or change the agreement. You may, however, make additional agreements using other assets.

Remember, your age at the time you establish your Gift Annuity determines your annuity rate and tax savings. The older you are, the higher your rate, income tax deduction and tax-free portion of your income payment.

The LCMS Foundation serves YOU!

The Foundation is the only LCMS organization that offers you comprehensive charitable expertise and customized services.

Since 1958, the LCMS Foundation has helped fellow Christians and LCMS organizations achieve their financial and ministry goals. Our experienced gift planning professionals help faithful Christians like you support hundreds of Lutheran ministries.

Herring Brook

Lots to report from Herring Brook Day School. In February the preschool hosted a wonderful PUPPETRY literacy event open to the public. It was pretty well attended considering that it was a public school vacation weekend (63 tickets sold). The children were able to perform with puppets for their parents plus do a craft activity. The professional puppet show was "Sir George & the Dragon" followed by an educational presentation on different aspects of making puppet magic happen: the staging, the sound effects, different voices, different types of puppets, etc... It ended with the puppeteer dancing down the aisle with an adult-size baby puppet (strapped to his feet), meeting the audience. The families, both children & adults, seemed to genuinely enjoy the puppet show, as well as the other activities. Each child went home with a goody bag of a Make-Your-Own Valentine puppet plus a few finger puppets and some valentine treats. It was a very original and educational event and Herring Brook was able to give the families and the public a taste of the kind of comprehensive, integrated curriculum that is our specialty. Thanks so much to the Stout family for attending and supporting Herring Brook Day School!

To more effectively promote children's dental health and improve their oral hygiene Herring Brook has begun a mid-day toothbrushing routine for all full day students. Herring Brook preschoolers will be smiling a little brighter thanks to Dr.

Kristine Grazioso & her So Shore Children's Dentistry office, in Cohasset. They have generously donated the supplies needed to launch this children's health program. Dr. Grazioso purchased sanitary toothbrush holder racks, netted rack covers, colorful toothbrushes and toothpaste and presented them all to Herring Brook to celebrate Dental Health month. This partnership between dentist and preschool was designed to establish a good proactive oral health regimen, safely & hygienically allow children to practice what they're learning at school, and hopefully ensure brighter smiles and brighter futures. Please check out So Shore Children's Dentistry Office, a leading pediatric dental practice located in the Family Health Building on Rte 3A in Cohasset and run by Dr. Kristine Grazioso.

South Shore Community Action Council in collaboration with First Program Early Intervention of the ARC of the So Shore has been running free 4 and 5 week Parent-Child Playgroups. These playgroups are for children ages two through three years old and are held on Monday afternoons from 3 PM - 4:15 PM in Herring Brook's Rainbow Room. Families from Scituate Cohasset, Norwell, Marshfield, Hingham and Hanover, Norwell are invited to register. AND HERE'S THE REALLY GREAT NEWS!!! Because we have been letting them use our Rainbow Room they have just purchased $535 worth of educational supplies and materials for Herring Brook. WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO SAY THANK YOU!!!

"SPRING... AT LAST!" fundraiser: All CLC church members AND their friends and family are invited and encouraged to attend the "SPRING... AT LAST!" fundraiser on Sat, March 20th at the Scituate Country Club. Tickets are $40 per person and include dinner, entertainment (DJ Melissa Trainor), dancing, plus a raffle & maybe some silent auction items. This will be a wonderful night out: wining, dining, dancing, socializing with friends and community and generally celebrating the anxious arrival of spring and the warmer weather. PLEASE COME AND JOIN US!!! ALL ARE WELCOME AND THE MORE THE MERRIER!

ALL TICKETS MUST BE PURCHASED OR RESERVED BY MARCH 6th, SO PLEASE CALL THE SCHOOL 781-544-3833, or LYNN Eaton at the church office 781-545-5271, OR TALK TO DICK JOHNSON on SUNDAY. Please read flyer inserted in Beacon and weekly church bulletins for more information.

P.S. Herring Brook will also gladly accept any raffle items, gift baskets, gift certificates, or silent auction items that any CLC members would like to donate. Please contact Helyn at 781-544-3833 ASAP. These would be non-profit tax deductible charity donations and I'll happily give you a receipt for the value of the donation.

Stewardship

Jeff Foxworthy says that if you know all four seasons—almost winter, winter, still winter and road construction—you might live in Wyoming. A lot of other people in wintry states might say the same thing. But in March we observe the beginning of spring. As the trees and bushes bud, the grass starts to turn green, and the soil takes on a smell of new life, we look forward to the beginning of a new cycle with warmer weather and a new start for seedtime and harvest.

Sometimes as God's stewards we may feel that stewardship is more of the same old, same old. But, just as spring starts a new cycle of life, so also Easter with its joy and celebration starts a new cycle of life for us as God's stewards. During the reflective season of Lent we look forward to the joy and celebration of Easter. This is a great reminder that we are "Easter people," that is, people of hope. Hope is stronger than memory. Memory mostly makes us think about past failures, unfulfilled promises, frustration and disappointment, but hope refreshes us with a new start, not just at spring time, but for every new day.

During Lent we reflect on the extravagant love of Jesus as He went all the way to the cross and death as the perfect sacrifice for our sins and failures. Philippians chapter two reminds us: "Jesus humbled Himself and became obedient to death—even death on a cross! Therefore God exalted Him to the highest place and gave Him a name that is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father." (vv8-11 NIV)

One day every knee will bow before Christ, even the knees of those who did not believe in Him, and confess Him as Lord of lords and King of kings. Those who do not believe will be forced to bow their knees when they see Jesus coming in glory and then they will go away to everlasting sorrow. By contrast, our knees will bow in humble adoration and our voices will proclaim "How great Thou art!"

Just as the earth comes back to life in spring time, so also we are renewed day by day to live as God's redeemed stewards who freely and joyfully manage all of life and life's resources for God's purposes. This new life is not boring! It is exciting as we experience God's power in our lives and look for opportunities in which we can manage our time, talents, relationships and financial resources in a way that honors Him and provides so many blessings to others and ourselves.

Let's "spring" to new life as God's redeemed stewards who, in cooperation with and encouragement from fellow redeemed stewards, manage all that we are and have to God's glory!

Thank You!

Dear Pastor, Berta and Friends,

My sincere thanks to all of you for your cards, food and tons of prayers. It is so appreciated by me and my family. My special thanks to Pastor Dan for being with me 30 minutes before surgery. Not only did I enjoy the message but the nursing staff and some people going in for surgery made comments to me about how lucky I was to have a Pastor who cared so much for his people. I told them it wasn't luck. The LORD sent him to us. Thanks again for everything.

Much love to you all,
Diane Waterfield

Missions

When the going gets tough...

I'd like to introduce you to a close friend of mine, Linda Marchese.

Beaming happiness and genuine warmth, always ready to lend an ear, viewing every situation with the most charitable interpretation possible. Giving time, talent and treasure to the community through her volunteer work. A talented watercolor artist, avid kayaker, mother and grandmother. And married to my closest friend, Bob, for 44 years.

Three weeks ago, Bob arrived home to find Linda dead on the floor.

Though she appeared to be one of the healthiest people in our circle of friends, she had an undetected heart problem that killed her instantly. The pain within our close circle of friends is unspeakable. And Bob is suffering even more than I can describe.

And by now, you're probably wondering how this relates to Mission.

Mission doesn't have to be a dramatic international journey where you cross the burning desert to deliver food and water to the poor. Nor does it have to be a massive fund raising event for the tragedy-du-jour.

Sometimes mission is close to home - and even within an arms reach.

Grief and loss touch those around us far too often. In these times, you have the opportunity to do something. To present a word of comfort by praying with your friend, listening to what they have to say and offering your support.

This "ministry of presence" is one of the best ways to help.

Start by understanding that there are no "right words". No new age guru, motivational speaker or magic potion is going to help - unless they can restore the dead to life.

Avoid unintentionally hurtful statements like "it's going to be fine" (it's not.) "At least she didn't suffer" (the bereaved is suffering enough for everybody). "You'll find somebody else" (your friend didn't lose a piece of furniture)

Some of these throw-away phrases can really be hurtful. But just being there, helping the bereaved to express their pain, is a real act of Christian mission. Allowing them to talk, cry and relate their story is part of the healing process. And while it's painful for you to go through, it's a small thing to offer in sacrifice to help your friend to grieve.

And when the going gets tough, turn to the Gospel.

I delivered Linda's eulogy. And while I was writing it, I was looking for a scriptural assurance of life after death. After fumbling around for awhile, it hit me like a ton of bricks - John 3:16.

For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, so that whoever believes in Him shall not perish, but have eternal life.

This, my friends, is real comfort. We have the assurance - the promise - directly from our Lord that those of us who confess His name as our Lord and Savior, accepting His free gift of forgiveness through His death on the cross will see each other again in Heaven.

No, our goodbye is not forever. And when you share that message with the bereaved and those around him, you offer the real peace of our Lord. You shine a light on the path to healing, showing the way to a right relationship with Almighty God, and through that path, the way to salvation.

So mission can be as simple as a listening, offering to pray with your friend and sharing the Gospel. And as part of the Body of Christ, that is our calling - to alleviate human suffering in the name of our Lord, Jesus.

I pray that when this kind of tragedy hits home, that you'll be better prepared to offer your "ministry of presence" and to share the very real hope that is the Gospel.

In Jesus' Holy Name,

Charlie MacPherson,
Mission Committee

Stewardship Note

As we continue to move toward the vision we all put together last year, one key factor is funding that vision with all of us consistently giving to CLC. There is more than one way to deliver your donation the Church each week or monthly.

- If you attend services regularly you can use your offering envelope, but if you miss Church a Sunday do you remember to catch up the next time you are in Church?
- If you use on-line banking you can setup an automatic payment to CLC so it arrives on a consistent basis.
- If you are paid through a payroll service you can have an automatic deposit go to CLC each pay period. Please contact either myself or Lynn Eaton in the office for the account information you need.

Finally, you can use the free “Joyfull Response” program through LCEF which automatically transfers funds from your checking account (no matter what bank you use) to CLC’s account at LCEF. Please contact either myself or Lynn Eaton in the office for enrolment forms.

The expenses for the Church must be paid every month whether our donations have come in or not. We are currently running behind what is required to pay the bills. Please prayerfully consider catching up on any missed donations and then switching to an automatic donation system.

A Gift that Keeps Coming Back

Jennifer and Buck love cruising, but it has not always been that way. Jennifer took years to talk Buck into his first cruise. When friends asked Buck what he liked most about the cruise, he would say, "The ship brought us back." Today in retirement, Buck has come to like cruising, but no trip is complete until Buck chuckles to Jennifer, "At least the ship came back."

Cruising is not the only thing Buck likes for its reliability. A few years ago Buck and Jennifer funded a charitable gift annuity. The gift annuity gave them fixed payments for life at a payment rate that was full sail ahead. It included capital gains benefits since they funded it by transferring (not selling) stock to our cause. They were also buoyed by a good-sized income tax deduction. The best part of all, as Buck will tell you, is that the payments keep coming back.

Whether the seas are rough or calm, what are you counting on to keep coming back to you? Like Buck and Jennifer you can fund a charitable gift annuity with our organization. The payment rates are fixed and are higher than you might expect. The income tax deduction is a friendly port in any storm, and the capital gains benefits are like a welcome breeze at your back. And just as Buck and Jennifer have discovered with cruising, you will never tire of the good feeling you have when the checks keep coming.

After a lifetime of payments to you, the gift annuity funds our important mission. If you would like a noobligation look at what a gift annuity can do for you or someone you love, check out the links on this website, or call or e-mail us for more information. We can help you test the waters. Best of all, just as many cruisers go again and again, many gift annuity donors like gift annuities so much that they create another and sometimes many more. from the past - that a life lived greatly becomes even greater when it leaves a gift that benefits others.
